How can you support sustainability at UCSF?

Gail and Rowena will cover all areas where the UCSF Community can get involved in sustainability and why it is important.

Reminder that dues are waived for this year, however you must still renew your membership to attend this and future AMP-only events for the coming year. Renew Here.

Speaker Bios

Gail Lee, Sustainability director for both UCSF campus and UCSF Health, is responsible for advancing and reporting sustainability compliance with UC Sustainable Practices policies around climate change, clean energy, water conservation, green labs, sustainable food, green buildings and operations, toxics reduction, zero waste, and communications.

Rowena Eng, MESM, Sustainability Coordinator, manages sustainability data reporting, communications, employee engagement campaigns, and initiatives to save energy and waste at UCSF. She enjoys facilitating interdepartmental collaborations to find triple win solutions that not only advance UCSF's Zero Waste and Carbon Neutrality goals, but also promote employee wellness and generate cost savings for the university. Prior to joining UCSF in 2018, Rowena worked in laboratory and clinical research at NYU Langone Health and healthcare sustainability at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center. She holds a B.S. in Marine Sciences and M.S. in Environmental Science & Management.
